The Somerset Lady Bulldogs regained the lead with a pair of runs in the top of the fourth which prompted Lady Mavericks head coach J.J. Iracheta, Jr. to make patching change and brought in Alexia Gutierrez to take over the pitching duties from starting pitcher Angie Escamilla. Gutierrez did an amicable job in the circle in her three and two-thirds innings of work inside the circle allowing five runs and striking out five batters as well.

The proud Lady Mavericks answered back with a lone run in the bottom of the fourth but it should have been at least two runs as Martha Garcia was called out at home after tagging up from third but the plate umpire surprisingly called her out even though it was quite clear that had slid way under the tag of the Somerset catcher.

That one lone run came off a rocket launch off the bat of Ariana Soto which sailed way over the left field fence to narrow the Lady Mavericks deficit to 8 to 7.

In the bottom of the sixth the Lady Mavericks tacked on another run and that came off the scorching red hot bat of Martha Garcia who hit a titanic shot deep into the night over the left field fence to make the score 11 to 8 in favor of the Lady Bulldogs.

The top of the seventh saw the visiting Lady Bulldogs extended their lead to 13 to 8 by plating another pair of runs greatly aided by another costly Lady Mavericks error.
